

Separation process in industrial cooling towers

© Vitaly G. Afanassenko,*⁺ Evgeny V. Boyev, Sergey P. Ivanov and Evgeny A. Nikolayev

Department of Equipment of Petrochemical Plants. Branch of Ufa State oil Technical University in Sterlitamak. Prospekt Oktyabrya St., 2. Sterlitamak, 453100. Bashkortostan Republic. Russia.

*Supervising author; ⁺Corresponding author

Keywords: separating, circulating water supply, water catcher, cooling tower.

Abstract

In gas and petrochemical industries cooling of technological equipment is carried out by water recycling systems, equipped with cooling towers. At the same time the working tower emits air saturated with water vapor, and the company has to recharge water circulation systems from natural sources. This article describes the characteristics of the separation process of evaporative cooling systems of recycled water.