

Development of methodology for the quantitative Determination the amount of flavonoids in the flowers of Calendula officinalis of different sorts

© Konstantin I. Korbakov,^{1*+} Galina A. Tselikova,¹
Elena L. Malankina² and Lilia V. Kuznetsova²

¹ *Department of Organic Chemistry and Chemical Dyes. A.N. Kosygin Moscow State Textile University.
Malaya Kaluzhskaya St., 1. Moscow, GSP-1, 119071. Russia.*

Phone: +7 (495) 955-35-48. E-mail: kbrakovk@mail.ru

² *Department of Viticulture and Winemaking RSAU - K.A. Timiryasev MA. Timiryasev St., 49.
block No. 17. Moscow, 127550. Russia. Phone: +7 (499) 976-49-06. E-mail: gandurina@mail.ru*

*Supervising author; +Corresponding author

Keywords: defining the sum of flavonoids, Calendula officinalis, natural dyes.

Abstract

This paper describes the methodology for determining the amount of flavonoids in Calendula officinalis flowers by routine, which is based on the bathochromic shift of maximum absorption in the UV spectrum of the extract at the complexation of flavonoids with aluminum salts.