

Condensation of α -phosphorylated carbonyl compounds with bifunctional nitrogen compounds

© Valeh M. Ismailov,¹ Iskander A. Mamedov,¹ Niftaly N. Yusubov,¹ and Victor V. Moskva^{2*+}

¹Baku State University. Z. Khalilov St., 23. AZ-1148, Baku. Azerbaijan.

E-mail: niftali-yusubov@rambler.ru

²Department of Organic Chemistry. D.I. Mendeleev Russian chemical-engineering university.
Miuskaya Sq., 9. Moscow, 125047. Russia.

*Supervising author; +Corresponding author

Keywords: organic phosphates, polyhaloalkanes, alkylation, heterocycles.

Abstract

Condensation of phosphorylated carbonyl compounds – phosphonaldehydes and phosphonketones with different bifunctional substances has been studied. Unlike phosphorylated aldehydes phosphonoacetone reacts with the participation of activated methylene chain.